

Åke Sandberg
Editor

Nordic Lights

Work, Management and
Welfare in Scandinavia

SNS FÖRLAG

Åke Sandberg
Editor

Nordic Lights

Work, Management and
Welfare in Scandinavia

SNS FÖRLAG

NORDIC LIGHTS. WORK, MANAGEMENT AND WELFARE IN SCANDINAVIA

”The Nordic countries have long been beacons for people around the world eager to see workplaces transformed into spaces where working people could express their humanity and aspirations. Readers will find empirical accounts and equally rich theoretical perspectives on the team-work alternatives to the Taylorist and Fordist models and on the broader context in politics, the economy and the labour market that made such alternatives possible.”

From the Foreword by Paul S. Adler, Professor of Management and Organization, University of Southern California

”This remarkable book explains the Scandinavian model of economic justice. It shows how information technologies can be put at the service of people, improving both efficiency and well-being. Scholars, business executives, and trade unions alike should read this thorough account of solidarity economics in practice.”

Manuel Castells, Professor Emeritus of Sociology and Planning, University of California, Berkeley

Twenty-five authors contribute to this book. Editor is Åke Sandberg, Professor Emeritus at Stockholm University, earlier at the National Institute for Working Life and the Royal Institute of Technology (KTH).

Also available as e-book. More information on www.sns.se.

YES, I ORDER

..... copy/copies of Nordic Lights 978-91-86949-37-2 at the special price 330 SEK. Shipping cost will be added.

Name .....

Company/organisation .....

Shipping address .....

Billing address .....

Zip code and city .....

Country .....

VAT-number ..... Phone .....

Send to: SNS Förlag, Box 5629, SE-114 86 Stockholm, Sweden
Phone +46 8 507 025 00 Fax +46 8 507 025 15
E-mail: order@sns.se www.sns.se

NORDIC LIGHTS. WORK, MANAGEMENT AND WELFARE IN SCANDINAVIA

”The Nordic countries have long been beacons for people around the world eager to see workplaces transformed into spaces where working people could express their humanity and aspirations. Readers will find empirical accounts and equally rich theoretical perspectives on the team-work alternatives to the Taylorist and Fordist models and on the broader context in politics, the economy and the labour market that made such alternatives possible.”

From the Foreword by Paul S. Adler, Professor of Management and Organization, University of Southern California

”This remarkable book explains the Scandinavian model of economic justice. It shows how information technologies can be put at the service of people, improving both efficiency and well-being. Scholars, business executives, and trade unions alike should read this thorough account of solidarity economics in practice.”

Manuel Castells, Professor Emeritus of Sociology and Planning, University of California, Berkeley

Twenty-five authors contribute to this book. Editor is Åke Sandberg, Professor Emeritus at Stockholm University, earlier at the National Institute for Working Life and the Royal Institute of Technology (KTH).

Also available as e-book. More information on www.sns.se.

YES, I ORDER

..... copy/copies of Nordic Lights 978-91-86949-37-2 at the special price 330 SEK. Shipping cost will be added.

Name .....

Company/organisation .....

Shipping address .....

Billing address .....

Zip code and city .....

Country .....

VAT-number ..... Phone .....

Send to: SNS Förlag, Box 5629, SE-114 86 Stockholm, Sweden
Phone +46 8 507 025 00 Fax +46 8 507 025 15
E-mail: order@sns.se www.sns.se

